Children's Hospital Los Angeles
Need Your Help!

Help Girl Scout Troop 16945 collect baby rattles to donate to babies in treatment and recovery at Children's Hospital Los Angeles.

Children's Hospital Los Angeles' littlest patients are in need of baby rattles to keep them entertained during their hospital stay. Between now and February 14, 2019, Troop 16945 will be collecting rattles to donate to babies at CHLA.

Our Girl Scout Troop is looking for new, packaged baby rattles, labeled for use by children aged 0-1. Starting December 2, please stop by the 4th/5th Grade Sunday School classroom (Room 209) to donate a new rattle still in its packaging.

All donations will be delivered directly to Children's Hospital Los Angeles by the members of Girl Scout Troop 16945. This project fulfills the troop's Bronze Service Award requirements.
